Hi! My name am/is/aren't Patrick Finch. I isn't/am/have got a Maths teacher. My pupils say I have got/is/am strict, but I isn't/am not/has got strict at all. I only think that my pupils are/have got/is a little bit lazy. Some pupils am/are/is even afraid of me, but I has got/are/am an ordinary person — like anybody else. I have got/has got/am a lot of hobbies. For example, computer games. I is/have got/am in front of my computer only orfe hour a day. I aren't/haven't got/ am not in front of it the whole day, like some of my pupils. I also read comics. My favourite comic are/is/has got Inspector J. It is/am/are really great, because you have got/are/isn't a detective, too, and you help Inspector J. Good for my brain!!

LOOK BACK!

I am/has got/have got a lot of friends, too. Mark and Peter isn't/have got/are my best friends. But we aren't/is/am very similar. For example, they like bungee jumping and for me it has got/are/is scary. Mark am/has got/is a PE teacher and Peter isn't/aren't/hasn't got a teacher. He has got/is/am a vet. He has got/have got/isn't a little zoo at home.

My favourite free-time activity are /have got/isn't doing mathematical calculations, but rollerblading. A Maths teacher on rollerblades!!! Why not! You see, teachers are/is/am ordinary people, so don't be afraid of them.
